Job Description

Position overview
The ANU College of Engineering and Computer Science (CECS) is dedicated to contributing to The Australian National University’s reputation for excellence in research and research-led education, bringing together expertise across a range of areas to reimagine the role of engineering and computing for future generations.

CECS is a diverse and exceptional community of students, educators, scholars and researchers who embrace the breadth of the computing and engineering professions. We want our people to engage in ground-breaking, cutting-edge research to solve “wicked problems” of the 21st century in collaboration with the best minds in the world from across a broad range of disciplines. Through modern, unique programmes we encourage our students to build a diverse, multidisciplinary skillset that will prepare our graduates to successful make their future mark in the world. At its core, we will equip our people to ask the right kind of questions from a people-centric, technological and scientific perspective.

We are looking for outstanding leaders who share our passion and who want to create something exceptional. Through this unique endeavour, ANU will nearly triple its capability in engineering and computer science over the next decade, in line with the Reimagine Engineering and Computer Science Strategic Intent 2019 -2025: https://cecs.anu.edu.au/sites/default/files/strategic_intent_20191127.pdf

We have identified five areas of strategic importance and are currently recruiting for Associate Deans in each of these areas:
• Associate Dean (Community & Inclusion)
• Associate Dean (Education)
• Associate Dean (Infrastructure)
• Associate Dean (Engagement)
• Associate Dean (Research)

The positions are available as five-year fixed term opportunities, but are negotiable dependent on the candidate’s experience, capability and preference. Applications are invited from outstanding thinkers with a depth of expertise in one of these areas alongside the breadth of vision needed to reframe and solve the most important, complex problems of our age. You will be a member of the College Executive and offered individualised attention and an opportunity to be a part of a culture with a strong sense of community. You will enjoy building teams, capacity and will be a natural collaborator, setting new standards of excellence and inspiring future faculty and students.

We welcome and develop diversity of backgrounds, experiences and ideas and encourage applications from individuals who may have had non-traditional career paths, who may have taken a career break or who have achieved excellence in careers outside of academia.
