from related fields are invited to apply. Additional information on the strategic vision and directions may be found at: <https://strategicdirections.cee.engin.umich.edu/>.

To be considered for this position, a PhD (or equivalent) degree or current enrollment in a PhD-granting program, is required. A successful candidate would be encouraged to collaborate with researchers in other departments and colleges across the University and show abilities to translate fundamental advances into practice. At the associate and full professor levels, a strong record of student mentoring and teaching of courses that complement the CEE undergraduate and graduate curricula is expected. Candidates at all ranks are expected to develop new courses.

We seek faculty members who commit to eliminating systemic racism and sexism by embracing our culture of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI). The University of Michigan has a storied legacy of commitment to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI). The Michigan Engineering component of the University's comprehensive, five-year, DEI strategic plan - along with updates on our programs and resources dedicated to ensuring a welcoming, fair and inclusive environment - can be found at: <https://www.engin.umich.edu/about/diversity/>. The Civil and Environmental Engineering Department's additional DEI initiatives may be found at <https://cee.engin.umich.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion/>.

Please visit our website at: <https://cee.engin.umich.edu/about/faculty-search/> to submit your application. It must include: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) statements of: research interests and their alignment with the CEE vision, teaching philosophy, and diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI); 3) a maximum of three representative research publications; and 4) names and contact information for five references (three references for applicants to assistant professor rank). Reviews of applications will begin on March 1, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. Interviews are likely to be held remotely. Inquiries regarding this position may be directed to Prof. Roman Hryciw, the Search Committee Chair, romanh@umich.edu. Apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/81855>.
