Worcester Polytechnic Institute - WPI

JOB DESCRIPTION SUMMARY

WPI invites applications for the position of Part-Time BETC Instructor. The University welcomes culturally and academically diverse candidates of the highest caliber. Worcester Polytechnic Institute is seeking subject matter experts to serve as part-time instructors in our Biomanufacturing Education and Training Center (BETC). The BETC is a first-in-New-England biomanufacturing facility created specifically to deliver intense training and education for professionals in the biotech industry. Our wide selection of courses are tailored to a multi-layered workforce with distinct roles and needs-including new employees and those seeking to improve on efficiency.

JOB DESCRIPTION

Job Description

BETC instructors teach courses onsite at the BETC, as well as occasionally at a corporate location. Seeking subject matter experts in the following areas to facilitate classroom and lab courses, guiding participants through the full process.

- Upstream Processing of Animal Cell Cultures
- Downstream Principles and Techniques
- Microbial Fermentation Development: Scale-Up and Manufacturing
- Fundamentals of Bioprocessing for Engineers
- Biomanufacturing for the Non-Specialist
- Fundamentals of Biomanufacturing

Requirements:

- Significant experience working in the bioprocessing industry (minimum of 15 years experience)
- Ability to work lab equipment in a simulated GMP bioprocessing facility
- Prior training/teaching experience preferred
- Excellent organizational and interpersonal skills
- Ability to work in a rapidly changing environment.

Required Documents to Apply:

- Cover Letter
- Resume
