hydrogen storage and CO<sub>2</sub> storage; and sustainable and resilient infrastructure systems, with a focus on transportation and energy.

We seek creative and enthusiastic candidates with the background and skills to build upon and complement our existing departmental strengths, and those who can bridge disciplines and span research initiatives. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in a relevant field and have a demonstrated record of excellence. The successful candidate will be jointly appointed between the Andlinger Center and an academic department aligned with the candidate's expertise.

Of particular interest are qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community. We strongly encourage applications from individuals who identify as members of groups that are underrepresented in science and engineering.

Complete applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement each of research interest and teaching, as well as contact information for three references. The application packet should be submitted to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/36462>. For full consideration of the application, candidates should apply by November 15, 2024.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.
