Centre College invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in engineering to begin August 2025. Candidates must have a strong commitment to teaching in a student-centered environment and mentoring undergraduate research in engineering and/or related fields. The successful candidate must have a PhD or equivalent terminal degree in engineering, with preference given to the mechanical, aerospace, or materials disciplines.??

We are committed to fostering an inclusive environment that celebrates diversity in all its forms, and we?strongly encourage applications from candidates who further diversify our faculty, who celebrate the rich diversity of our student body, and who?utilize?inclusive and engaging pedagogical practices.???

This faculty position offers a unique opportunity to support the development of a new engineering program with the goal of achieving ABET accreditation within five years. The successful candidate will teach new engineering courses within their specialty and in the areas of fluids, dynamics, and design. Our new colleague?will join a collegial and supportive program committed to inclusive teaching practices and?to?student support beyond the classroom, including individual advising and mentored student research, which?is expected and supported.?Competitive startup funds are included.?

Centre's faculty is filled with?compassionate teacher-scholars dedicated to excellent teaching,?student mentorship, equity and inclusion, shared governance, interdisciplinary collaboration, global study and citizenship,?faculty-led study abroad,?scholarly achievement, and service to the college and broader society. We?provide?ongoing professional development with?resources including?a dynamic Center for Teaching and Learning?and endowed funding for?summer research and?professional development.?Peer mentorship will be provided?at the institutional and programmatic level?to support?our new colleague's success.?

Centre College is a nationally ranked?liberal arts and sciences college of ~1,400 students with an exceptional faculty. Centre's?robust academic programs span the arts, humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, and Centre?hosts one of the nation's premier study-abroad programs, a world-class performing arts center, and competitive Division III athletics.??Classes are small and academic standards are high, and Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success in top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships, and rewarding?careers.

The College is located in historic Danville, Kentucky, offering a high quality of life and easy access to Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.
