Job Description

This is a limited-term position for 1 year, continuation contingent upon funding.

The department of Biosystems Engineering at Auburn University is seeking candidates for the position of Research Assistant/Associate to support lab management and assist in project management responsibilities for the Green Reimagining of Agriculture in a Controlled Environment (GRACE). This position is funded from external sources, and continuation of employment is contingent upon availability of funds.

The GRACE project aims to find ways to reduce greenhouse carbon emissions and disseminate this knowledge to the public, fostering a more sustainable CEA industry through research, education and outreach. The ideal candidate will be self-motivated, possessing a robust work ethic and exceptional organizational skills.
