Faculty Position in Design Management

Visiting or Regular Assistant Professor Rank

The College of Architecture, Art and Design (CAAD) at American University of Sharjah (AUS) invites applications for a faculty position in design management—at the assistant professor level—in the Department of Art and Design. The position provides a diverse learning environment with students from approximately 90 countries. CAAD has established a reputation for excellence, and its alumni have gone on to study at top graduate programs and have established themselves as experts in their fields. CAAD is ranked among the top 200 programs globally in the Art and Design subject area by QS World University Subject Rankings.

CAAD offers five undergraduate programs leading to degrees in architecture, interior design, visual communication design, and design management, along with a Master of Urban Planning. The Department of Art and Design also offers minors in design management, photography and product design. The curriculum is grounded in an American liberal arts model integrated with a strong emphasis on English. Website: www.aus.edu/caad. Samples of student work can be found at <https://www.aus.edu/caad/design>.

All positions come with a competitive salary and an attractive benefits package inclusive of free housing and transportation, as well as funding for annual return airfare, school tuition for dependents and health insurance. Successful candidates will also receive a research and professional development scholarship.

The successful candidate will primarily teach courses in the Bachelor of Science in Design Management degree program in one of the following areas: creative strategy and execution, design thinking, design research, strategic storytelling, strategic design and innovation ecosystems. A terminal degree (MFA or PhD) in design management or a related field, along with digital fluency, as well as relevant academic and professional experience.

In addition to teaching, faculty are required to mentor students, engage in scholarly activities (which can include publishing, presenting, and writing), and participate in service activities for the college, university and community. Creative work and research are important components of the position. Successful candidates will not only have access to excellent research opportunities but also generous financial support, including a research and professional development scholarship. Applicants should have an excellent record of teaching and scholarship from a reputable university.

Interested applicants must submit the following: 1) a letter of application that describes the fit with this position and provides contact information of three referees; 2) curriculum vitae; and 3) a digital portfolio of scholarly/professional/teaching and research work.
