Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Job Description

The Department of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering invites applications for a Full-time non-tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Lecturer A or Senior Lecturer A in Mechanical and Industrial Engineering to start in Fall 2025.

The successful candidate is expected to teach undergraduate courses; serve as the chief undergraduate faculty advisor; mentor and support undergraduate students; engage with other faculty in undergraduate curriculum development; contribute to research proposals to strengthen educational components and industry collaboration; reach out to industry to coordinate experiential activities and internships; and promote diversity and inclusiveness.

The initial appointment will be for two years, with renewal based on performance. Lecturers at UMass Amherst enjoy significant benefits and status under the negotiated faculty contract (see Article 21 of the MSP/MTA/NEA contract linked on this page Policy and Labor Contracts : Office of the Provost \(umass.edu\)). The Lecturer A/Senior Lecturer A will join a team of faculty noted for excellence and innovation in undergraduate and graduate education.

Requirements

Candidates must have a Ph.D. degree in Mechanical Engineering, Industrial Engineering, or a closely related field. Preference will be given to candidates with teaching expertise and familiarity with and/or interest in student advising and curricular issues. To be qualified at the Senior Lecturer A rank, candidates must have six years of full-time experience.

Additional Information

Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will holistically assess the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research or other work activities.
