and expanding to new and emerging fields. We seek scholars that are committed to pioneering research and have a strong dedication to teaching and mentoring students. The university fosters a dynamic and collaborative community and aspires to address global challenges.

Home to Singapore's largest Maritime Studies Programme, the School of Civil and Environmental Engineering invites applications across all areas of Maritime Studies, including (but not limited to) sustainable shipping, port operations, maritime economics, shipping decarbonization, shipping digitalisation, supply chain resilience, maritime technology, marine insurance, and risk management. Applications are welcome for all academic ranks (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Full Professor).

We welcome outstanding candidates with a Ph.D. in Maritime Studies or a related field to apply. Multiple positions are available this year, with further opportunities expected in the coming years. We offer exceptionally competitive salaries and attractive start-up packages.

Please submit your application materials to d-cee@ntu.edu.sg. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, contact information for three referees, and PDFs of two manuscripts.
