the last five years, and over 1,900 undergraduate and graduate students. As the fastest growing department at Stevens, we are the primary occupant of a new $45M state-of-the-art academic building. Faculty research is supported by the NSF including 6 NSF CAREER awards, DARPA, NIH, NSA, ONR, and other federal and private funding sources and is carried out by a vibrant group of Ph.D. students. The Department is home to research labs on AI, machine learning, computer vision, big data analytics, programming languages, cryptography, computer security, and software systems, and is the main constituent of the Stevens Institute for Artificial Intelligence (SIAI). The SIAI is a new, interdisciplinary research center that brings together over 50 faculty across the University.

Responsibilities: Successful candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to excellence in teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate level. They are also expected to advise students, supervise them in research, and contribute to the intellectually vibrant, highly interdisciplinary, collaborative, diverse, innovative, and entrepreneurial culture at Stevens.

Required Education and Experience: Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in computer science or a related discipline. The department especially seeks candidates with a strong background in systems and security but will consider applications in all areas of computer science.

Academic Submission Guidelines: Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and will be accepted until the positions are filled. Applications received by February 15, 2025 will receive full consideration. All applications must be submitted electronically at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/stevens>. To apply, please submit the following items –

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Statement that includes a) teaching interests, b) teaching philosophy, and c) a plan on how to create an inclusive environment for students of all backgrounds in terms of classroom teaching, student advising, and graduate student mentoring
- Contact info for at least three references

For any questions, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Professor Sandeep Bhatt, at Sandeep.bhatt@stevens.edu.
